

400 Businessmen Act as Stevedores In Havana Strike

Members of Chamber of Commerce and Rotary Club Don Overalls and Clear Piers of Freight

Special Correspondence
HAVANA, Jan. 24.—New Yorkers arriving in Havana this week were attracted by an unusual spectacle. Along the harbor docks they witnessed 400 business men of the Cuban capital, clad in overalls or khaki trousers, playing the part of stevedores and clearing the wharves of accumulated stocks of perishable products. Exasperated by the two weeks' harbor tie-up, the Havana Chamber of Commerce and Rotary Club combined to settle this problem in a more forceful manner than by conferences. Led by Dr. Aizguaray, president of the Russians, manned drays and automobile trucks and removed 30,000 pieces of freight the first day. It is said that this surpasses a day's handling for seasoned stevedores. The result has been to relieve Havana from possible famine.

A majority of members attended the weekly meeting of the Rotary Club Thursday attired in their working clothes. As the city is rallying to the merchants' support, it was decided to continue this method until the striking dockmen resumed work.

John Hanley, who, until prohibition days arrived, managed a cafe at Ninety-second Street and Broadway, New York, soon will open a saloon on the Prado, Havana's fashionable boulevard.

Louis E. Stoddard, son of E. G. Stoddard, and his wife are at the Sevilla. Mr. Stoddard was a member of the last American polo team that competed for the international trophy in England. His sister, Mrs. Frank Buttersworth, is with them.

The Roosevelt memorial campaign in Cuba will be launched early in February. The Cuban Congress has appropriated $50,000 and a like sum will be raised by subscription. This amount will be given to the New York committee, which will purchase Colonel Roosevelt's birthplace. The Havana Rotary Club has designated February 3 as a date to canvass for subscriptions.

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm E. Grey and Miss Melba Grey, of Rochester, are visiting friends in Havana.

Mr. and Mrs. William Major and daughter, Miss Ivy Major, of New York are in Havana. Mr. Major is interested in several Cuban engineering enterprises.

Rear Admiral Victor Blue, U. S. N., retired, has returned to Key West after being a guest of friends in Havana.

A performance of "La Boheme" was given recently at the National Theater in honor of Commander Jolivet of the French cruiser Jeanne d'Arc.

Mrs. Charles M. Echevarria has arrived from Short Hills, N. J., to join her husband. Her two sons accompanied her.

Earle Nelson, a civil engineer, and Mrs. Virginia Nelson, of New York, are sojourning in Havana before continuing to Trinidad.

At the Inglaterra are George R. Morle, Van W. Loomis, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Aronstein, Commander N. T. McLean, U. S. N.; George Berendt, Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Cousins, Lorenzo M. Gillet, Hugh Corby Fox, Mr. and Mrs. B. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Owens, Rene La Montagne, of New York, and W. C. Douglass, of Pittsburgh. At the Lafayette are Captain R. F. Powers, of Brooklyn; W. Forbes Morgan, Luis K. Rios, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Rounthwaite, Miss Marjorie Rounthwaite, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Craig, Edwin Phillips, and A. A. Fishel, of New York; Miss Kathleen Donnelly and her mother, of East Orange, and F. Otis, of Rye, N. Y.

Late registrations at the Telegrapho include K. P. Galvan, R. H. Gregory, P. Harold Banks, Albert Reikin, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Schneider, of New York; Charles Turville, of Boston; R. B. Muller, of Baltimore, and H. H. Bacon, of Savannah.

American arrivals at the Sevilla are N. M. Stefano, Mrs. B. Clapp, L. L. Winkelman, Leo J. Bondy, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Osgood, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Stoddard, Mrs. Rainey, Mrs. F. S. Buttersworth, and M. Frank, of New York; Charles B. Hubner, of Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Ingraham, of Bristol, Conn.; and Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Beckers, Miss Elsa Beckers and Kurt A. Beckers, of Bolton, N. Y.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Jan. 24.—One of the principal golf events here is the tournament for the Frick Cup, which starts on February 16 and continues for five days. It will be a bogey handicap, 18 holes to be played each day.

The United States government has leased the Lenwood Hotel property for a hospital. About five hundred soldiers will be sent here. The doctors and nurses will be from the Public Health Service.

Partridge Inn will be filled during February and March, the reservations show. Starting Monday, dances will be held every night in the restaurant, which has been enlarged to accommodate the great number of dancers who come from the village colony, other hotels and the Country Club.

Partridge Inn has been selected as the hotel in which to hold the annual meeting of the Augusta Board of Commerce. The guest of honor will be Edwin B. Brown, chief of the United States Chamber of Commerce. Arrangements have been made by a committee composed of E. E. Gibson, I. M. Fleming and H. M. Carpenter, for accommodations for about five hundred guests at the dinner to be given February 12.

Colonel Charles W. T. Thatcher, chief engineer of the Washington and Lee Highway Association, came to Augusta on the interest of the plan to give Augusta a two-highway outlet from Quebec to Boston, New York and Washington, Florida and to California. It will be good news for the hundreds of winter tourists who usually come to Augusta from New York and either motor from the metropolis or have their cars shipped to Savannah or Charleston.

C. W. Gillespie, of New York, who has been ill in a hospital, has recovered and is at Partridge Inn.

Mr. and Mrs. James C. Brown, Colin Brown and Joseph L. Borgett, of Saratoga, N. Y., are at Partridge Inn.

Henry M. Peers, of New York, arrived Sunday.

Les Harrison and Charles Lurvey, of New York, were guests of a luncheon Sunday at Partridge Inn. A. Hollingsworth, E. Manning, Mr. and Mrs. J. Brown, of New York, and Mrs. J. Brown, of New York, were guests of a luncheon Sunday at Partridge Inn.
